SCHOOL PERFORMANCE FACT SHEET 2013-2014
Certificate in Buddhism and Contemporary Psychology
(24 semester units, 1 year)

Institution Name: Institute of Buddhist Studies Institution Code: 0101141

The educational programs offered by the Institute of Buddhist Studies are academic, and not vocational, in nature. The information reported below reflects the character of these degree programs. Also note that according to the standards set by the licensing agency, completion rates are calculated on the basis of two years of full-time enrollment, that is, students who proceed on a part-time basis are not counted as part of the completion rate.

Placement Rate is generally not applicable, as the programs are not intended to specifically lead to a particular career, occupation, vocation, job, or job title.

Salary and Wage Information is not applicable, as the institution makes no express or implied claim regarding salary that may be earned after completion of the educational program. The programs of the Institute of Buddhist Studies are academic in nature, not vocational. The information provided below is provided voluntarily by graduates and does not constitute a claim regarding students' eligibility for particular work.

The Master of Arts in Buddhist Studies degree program and the Certificate in Buddhist Chaplaincy program are awarded by the Graduate Theological Union and jointly administered by the Institute of Buddhist Studies. Accordingly, the Institute does not track enrollment, completion, placement, or wage information for these programs. Please see the GTU website for additional information:

Definitions

1 “Number of Students Who Began Program” means the number of students who began the program who are scheduled to complete the program within the reporting calendar year.

2 “Students Available for Graduation” refers to the number of students had accumulated the number of units to graduate within the reporting year. Programs have variable unit requirement, between 48 and 72.

3 “Number of Graduates” is the number of students who have completed the program.

4 “Completion Rate” is the number of Graduates divided by the Number of Students Available for Graduation.

5 “Graduates available for employment” means the number of graduates minus the number of graduates unavailable for employment. Graduates unavailable for employment means graduates who, after graduation, die, become incarcerated, are called to active military duty, are international students that leave the United States or do not have a visa allowing employment in the United States, or are continuing their education in an accredited or bureau-approved postsecondary institution.

6 “Graduates employed in the field” means graduates who are gainfully employed within six months of graduation in a position for which the skills obtained through the education and training provided by the institution are required or provided a significant advantage to the graduate in obtaining the position.

7 “Placement Rate Employed in the Field” is calculated by dividing the number of graduates gainfully employed in the field by the number of graduates available for employment.

8 Salary is as reported by the student. Not all graduates reported salary.
